Why this research is needed?

Ecumenical mission is at the heart of our work at Leeds Church Institute. We are a faith based organisation with a mission for 'Learning as a faithful City'. We plan and deliver our work ecumenically across Leeds through discussion, events and learning opportunities with a variety of different Christian churches.

What are we looking for?

You will arrange to meet people and organisations face to face, on video call, interviews over the phone and requesting information by email.

You will produce a 4 page report with an up to date list of organisations and individuals who are working collaboratively with Christian denominations across the city. We will use this list in our work to organise events, work in partnership, share ideas and plan our work around ecumenical mission more effectively. Your report will be shared on our website and with our faith partners in the city.

There is a research budget of £900 available for this work inclusive of travel. If you have the skills to carry out this research contact creativity@leedschurchinstitute.org
